Indiana permits bond issues on county highways, but not on state projects and as a result, the state roads are all paid for before they are built. The county roads are paid for after they are worn out in many cases, and before the bond issues are paid out.

Mr. . . ill offers a practical solution of this problem by paying for the roads before they are built and thus save the interest. He cites some concrete examples of how this would have saved Putnam county taxpayers. He

Senate Democrats To Demand Federal Fund To Feed Hungry Families of Farmers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (UP) Senate Democrats have accepted th administration's foodless drought relief program under protest for the time being, but are threatening a special session unless they can eventually obtain federal funds to feed hungry farm families.

With their work finished on the $45, 000,000 drought relief appropriation which excludes human food loans, republican leaders did not appear alarmed at the special session threat as they turned their attention today to onsideration of the battleship mod-

Hearings were begun today by hairman Nye of the Senale public lands committee to inquire into the necessity for an investigation of charges that there were irregularities in the leasing of Colorado oil shale lands. The hearings were sought in a motion by Senator Walsh, Dem.,

Two laws have been introduced in the Indianna legislature already that have to do with the division of the four cents per gallon collected on gaso e in Indiana. ATTENDENCE URGED

INDIANAPOLIS. Jan. 8 (UP)-Parents and other persons whose work brings them in contact with the children of Indiana are urged by Gov Harry G. Leslie to attend the state child health and welfare conference to be held at Indianapolis January 15

"It is the duty of each parent and every other person working with children to know the results of years or research work and the most modern thought on the care of children' Governor Leslie said.

"This conference, the first state conference of its kind, is an aftermath of President Hoover's White House conference of child health and protection. It will give to the people of Indiana a cross-section of the expert thought concerning the welfare of children and should stimulate every effort to give the children of Indiana their fullest measure of opportunity and development.

"The meetings are for the people of Indiana and its success will depend upon how far our people will go in co-operation and responsiveness these matters affecting the lives of our children.

"The men and women on the three day program are leaders in child health and welfare work. For the benefit of the children in every home I urge widespread attendance at every session of this all important confer-

"Lieutenant Governor Edgar A. Bush already busy with details at ture where he will be president of th senate, will preside at the opening session of the conference.

"Our Indiana conference is the firs effort to bring the findings of the White House conference to the parents, teachers, welfare workers and the public at large," Bush said.

"Indiana is taking the lead in this move to safeguard the health and liv es and conditions surrounding he children. To my mind, everyman and woman in Indiana who can should at tend the meetings."
